

That awkward moment when you fall asleep at another boring campus presentation.

Yes, we're talking about you. If you're tired of listening to the same old campus presentations then come along and experience something a little different.

Our people come from different backgrounds. They have dealt with different challenges. They are experts in different fields and are passionate about a million different things.

They have great stories to tell. And we think their stories will help to guide you in deciding what you do after graduation and understand a little bit more about what makes us as a Bank, tick.

We'll also tell you more about Standard Chartered, our Graduate Programmes, and where you can take your career by joining us.
